Roseburg Armorite

Armorite is a no-added formaldehyde MDF panel that resists moisture, rot, decay, and insects (including Formosan termites). This innovative new product was engineered with machinability in mind and provides the best performance in the market for profiling, cutting, and custom designs. Fabricators will appreciate all the design flexibility they are accustomed to with interior MDF panels, but with the additional benefit of withstanding the rigors of exterior environments, high moisture, and humidity.

Modern Mill ACRE

ACRE is a sustainable, low-maintenance alternative to wood. It's lightweight and easy to carry, yet every piece is strong, rigid and straight. ACRE is also easy to cut with ordinary woodworking tools—with no special equipment, training or experience—and waste is minimal. And it takes paint, stain and lacquer just like real wood. Once your project is complete, you can be confident ACRE will stand up to water, weather, pests and UV for years to come, backed by an industry-leading materials guarantee.
